Trustees Medal Awarded For Best Student Speech

The annual Trustees Medal competition with an award given for the best speech by a student will be held soon.

The medal competition, open to any full-time non-freshman undergraduate, will be divided into two parts: a preliminary competition, which will be held Wednesday, Mar. 30, in room E-108 of the English building; and a final competition, to be held April 4.

The Trustees Medal winner will be announced on Honors and Awards Day. Entry blanks may be obtained from any English 301 instructor or from Mr. A. J. Fear or Mr. J. C. DuVal of the English Department.

Speeches may be on any appropriate subject, but may not last longer than ten minutes. The speech must be an original composition, and must not have been used, either wholly or partially, in any other public speaking contest. Contestants may ask any member of the English department for advice.

Speeches will be judged by Clemson English faculty members in the preliminary elimination, but judges for the finals will be chosen from outside of the English department. However, the judges will be made familiar with their duties prior to the competition.

Speeches will be judged on these criteria: Composition, (content, organization, logic, clarity, and appropriateness), 50 percent; Delivery, (effectiveness, force, enthusiasm), 20 percent; Voice, (modulation, enunciation, and pronunciation), 15 percent; and Manner, (poise, ease, naturalness, etc.), 15 percent.

Entries must be in by Monday, Mar. 21. They should be taken to Mr. DuVal in O-317 of the English-math complex.

General Howard Snyder's Speech Heard By Large ROTC Audience

"Any young man physically qualified and mentally qualified should seek to serve as an officer," stated General Howard K. Snyder, commanding general of the U. S. Army 12th Corps, who spoke at the annual Scabbard and Blade Banquet last Friday night.

Gen. Snyder presented his after-dinner speech to the banquet of over 450 cadets and their dates and special guests of the Scabbard and Blade. The guests included President of the University and Mrs. R. C. Edwards; Vice President and Mrs. W. T. Cox; Mrs. R. F. Poole, the current South Carolina Mother of the Year; Col. Melvin C. Brown, professor of Military Science, and his wife; Lt. Col. Dewey R. Franklin, professor of Aerospace Studies, and his wife; Col. A. C. Stover, professor of Military Science at Wofford College; and others.

Military organizations represented at the Banquet included the Arnold Air Society, the Clemson University Counter-guerrillas, the Light Brigade, the Pershing Rifles Company C-4, the Rifle Team, the Society of American Military Engineers, and the Pershing Rifles Fourth Regimental Headquarters.

Gen. Snyder began his speech on the topic of the conflict in South Viet Nam. He stated that "our position must be that which has been so splendidly explained and presented by the President of the United States; he has pointed out our intention and objects very clearly."

Inadequate strength on the part of the invading Cuban refugees caused their failure in the Cuban fiasco said Gen. Snyder. But in 1962 adequate military strength turned the tide when the Russian missile bases were built in Cuba; "Thank God for President Kennedy's strength of character," he continued.

"Yes, it's military force that seems to be the word of law that the Communists understand.... It's only military power that seems to pay off," explained Gen. Snyder.

Commenting on the possibilities of war with Red China, Gen. Snyder stated, "I would think that the probability is quite low." He explained to the banquet audience that war for the Communist Chinese would be a definite conflict of interests, and "we people in the United States are not seeking a military showdown with Red China."

Gen. Snyder pointed out that rising concern over the military casualties in South Viet Nam was not well-founded because the number of casualties on the highway in the state of Georgia last year almost equal the 1,700 men who died in Viet Nam last year. The number of deaths on U. S. highway numbered over 50 thousand while only 1,700 died in combat in Viet Nam. He compared injuries in each case showing that there were 600 injuries on the nation's highways for every injury in Viet Nam last year.

Turning to today's young men and their military obligations, he noted that the Reserve Officers Training Corps has, for the last fifty years, turned out the backbone of the Army and Air Force commissioned personnel.

"Clemson University now leads all other universities of similar size in the production of officers for the Army and Air Force," he noted.

Gen. Snyder, in talking about the advantages of serving ones military obligations as an officer, listed the rewards, including the opportunity to travel, the chance to learn the art of leadership, and ability to express ones self, the habit of integrity, and post graduate training.

songs, "In the Summertime" (originally called "You Don't Want My Love"), "Hey, Little Star", and "Lock, Stock, and Teardrops", brought him national fame and a contract with Smash records.

In the past year and a half Roger Miller has had seven hits—"Chug a Lug", "Dang Me", "Doo Wack A Doo", "King of the Road", and his latest "England Swings", to name only a few. His latest album, Roger Miller's Golden Hits, is proving to be one of the year's top sellers.

Featured along with Roger Miller are the Good Time Singers, composed of nine young musicians. Tom Drake, a school teacher, and his partner, Mike Storm, a painter/student heard one Friday afternoon in July of 1963 that Andy Williams was looking for a new group for his show. Over that weekend the school teacher and the painter contacted seven of their friends and told them that they would start rehearsals on Monday. By the end of the week the nine part-time musicians had become a group. As a matter of fact, they were not just any group; they were to become a regular fixture on the Andy Williams Show. Since that time they have appeared on television coast-to-coast at least twice a month. They have

Financial Board Explains CU Expenditures

1. HOW MUCH DOES IT COST FOR A NEW FLEET OF CARS AND WHERE DOES THE MONEY COME FROM?

By establishing its own motor pool with its own cars Clemson has found that by operating this separate enterprise with a price set at the point it takes to operate, with no profit and no loss, it can run the cars (sedans) at six and one half cents a mile which is two and one half cents per mile below the usual state rate. Thus the motor pool is a self-sufficient operation which pays for itself and saves the University over $45,000 per year.

2. HOW MUCH FEDERAL AID DOES CLEMSON RECEIVE? (A) MONEY (B) PERCENTAGE OF TOTAL FUNDS?

There is no set figure as "Total Funds" at Clemson, rather there are five separate financial agencies, only one of which concerns the academic part of the University with which most students are familiar. Each one of these five agencies has a different percentage of federal aid, but this percentage is not constant as every day some contract may terminate while one or two more may be signed. For example, while there is only a negligible amount of federal money in the academic agency, federal funds make up some 58 percent of the Cooperative Extension Services' funds or thirty three to fifty percent of Agricultural Research's funds.

3. WHAT HAPPENS TO THE MONEY LEFT OVER?

There is no money left over in the sense of a surplus. Each department of the University submits a list of items it needs which are put on one great list called the "Wish List" and there are approximately one and a half million dollars worth of items on that list at this time. Very few of them will be removed this year. The only money that is carried forward is that which is to pay for something already contracted.

In the realm of student organizations, the balances are carried forward from one year to the next as in a checking account.

4. WHY DO WE HAVE TO PAY FOR BROKEN LAB EQUIPMENT IN THE CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT?

The chemistry department feels that if a student knows he is going to have to pay for any equipment he breaks he will be more careful with it. Thus they call this payment a "teaching tool" for responsibility. They point out that the alternative is charging a straight lab fee like most of the area institutions do which is non-refundable. (It averages about fifteen dollars at most of these). The money collected does not stay with the chemistry department, it is turned into the accounting department and put in the "miscellaneous income" category, and at the end of the semester they request a refund if one is due. The chemistry department does not profit from breakage.

CU's YMCA Selects Officers For 1966-67 School Semester

On March 6-7 elections for officers in the YMCA for the school term 1966-67 were held with the following results:

Elected to serve as President is Henry Garbelman, a rising senior from Oxon Hill, Maryland; for Vice-President, John Baker, a rising senior from Columbia; Recording Secretary, Sandra Tarquinio, a rising junior from Weirton, West Virginia.

Four new members were elected for a three-year term on the YMCA Advisory Board, the term beginning Mar. 1, 1966. They were Dr. Charles Arrington, Pastor of the Clemson Baptist Church; Mr. D. Gregory Hughes, Director of Placement, Clemson University; Mr. Kenneth Cribb, Spartanburg businessman, member of the Board of Trustees and a member of the YMCA Advisory Board whose term expired Mar. 1 and is re-elected for another three-year term; and Mr. Frank C. Anderson, a businessman in Clemson who is connected with the Fort Hill Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Nancy Miller was recently elected to be editor of TAPS for the 1967 edition.

Executive Post

To be everything to everybody—that is perhaps the greatest challenge that any leader can try to face. And this challenge in itself is enough to keep any leader busy.

Whether he accepts that challenge or not, it is one of the first standards upon which a leader will be criticized and evaluated. No student position exemplifies this saying more than that of student body president, for a president has to serve as an administrator, a leader, a follower, correspondent, coordinator, and chief student representative of his campus. This is a full-time job.

Among the first duties of any president is the appointment of capable persons to fill certain executive committee positions.

Often the quality of individuals appointed to these posts can determine to a large extent the success of future programs of the student government.

Clemson seems to have been very fortunate this year in having executive appointees who have fulfilled their offices to the utmost of their abilities.

Of course, the planning for the incoming freshman class at Clemson requires a great deal of work by the student body president. The Rat Pack, freshman campus tour, rat master program, orientation, pep rallies, communications with freshmen and upper-classmen—all of these have to be planned, and it takes a large part of the summer to do it.

Shortly after the freshmen settle down, the president can turn his attention to other duties. Student Body President Gray Walsh described one of his experiences in these words: "One of the most unusual experiences of my term was a panel discussion on dating held at Winthrop College. The panel wasn't so unusual, as it consisted of five men from five different schools, but the questions on dating conduct and a 1300-girl audience combined to make the evening one which I shall always remember."

Correspondence is one thing that a student body president never lacks. Other schools experience many of the same problems which Clemson does, and the first step toward solving any problem is finding out how others have faced similar situations.

All bills passed by the Student Senate come to the executive branch for approval or veto. These necessitate discussion not only with the president's cabinet, but also with individuals throughout the entire student body.

Special student body projects, meetings, and study take most of the remainder of a president's time.

Student Body Candidates

Danny Speights

Danny Speights, a rising senior in History, is one of two candidates for president. A native of Hampton, Danny's most outstanding extracurricular activity has been his post as Attorney General of the Student Body this year.

In addition, he is currently a member of the president's cabinet, chief prosecuting attorney for the High Court, and a member of Blue Key and the YMCA. He was a class senator as a sophomore, and is a member of Kappa Delta Chi.

When asked about his plans if elected, he enumerated several programs: a clear definition of the authority and responsibilities of student government; student membership on University committees such as the Fine Arts Committee, the Schedule Committee, and the Curriculum Committee.

He felt that the president should be a non-voting member of the Board of Trustees, and promised to work for a teacher-evaluation by students program. He also plans to examine the possibility of purchasing separate dining hall tickets.

Jim Sutherland

The other candidate for president is Jim Sutherland of Clemson. A rising senior in pre-medicine, Sutherland is currently Secretary of the Student Body.

His other student government activities include membership on the president's cabinet and on the Ways and Means Committee. He is also chairman of the Appeals Court.

Other extracurricular activities include membership in Tiger Brotherhood, Blue Key, Phi Kappa Phi and Phi Eta Sigma honor fraternities, Block "C" Club, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and Delta Kappa Alpha social fraternity.

He is a guard on the varsity Basketball team. Sutherland stated that it was his intention to promote "activities in interests of Clemson students, establish better student-administrative and student-student government understanding, and provide a basis of new activities for the future when the new Student Union building will be completed.

He plans, if elected, to improve student voting by having auxiliary polls in the dining halls during lunch and dinner hours, urge debate among students on student political issues, introduce a plan to

Student Government Drive Set To Help Miracle Hill

Following a recent trip to Miracle Hill Schools, the Student Government of Clemson has adopted the service project of raising money to help buy school supplies for the children of Miracle Hill.

The drive will be held on the night of Mar. 23, and it is hoped that all students will take this project seriously and give it their full support.

Miracle Hill, located 10 miles from Pickens, was founded approximately eight years ago by a minister who had access to a barn, a corn crib, two houses, 71 acres of land, and a large amount of faith and determination.

Since the time of its founding, Miracle Hill has grown to include 200 acres of land and 12 buildings. The school was started to provide children from broken homes with an atmosphere conducive to development and growth.

There are presently 179 children at Miracle Hill ranging in age from 2 to 20.

Most of these children are from the Greenville area, and the ratio of boys to girls is about even.

Miracle Hill is a place where everybody helps by doing his share of the work. The older children are required to work two hours each day. Recently some of the older boys combined their time and talents to tile the walls in the dining hall and the nursery.

The other boys could be found in the green house or in the kitchen. One young man from Greer has gained the respect of everyone at the Hill through his accomplishments with the pots and pans. His instructors are convinced that he is well on his way toward becoming a master chef.

The girls devote their work hours to knitting, baby sitting, and sewing clothes for themselves and the other children.

Each child is paid a small amount for his services. If he does a very thorough job, he is rewarded with a small boost in allowance; however, if he does a sloppy job, his allowance may be cut.

One half of each child's allowance is put into a savings account for him. This money will later enable the young man or lady to at least have a start in life when they leave the Hill.

It is interesting to note that almost every child tithes a certain amount of his allowance to the church even though he is not required to do so. This indicates that the children know how to give as well as receive—a virtue which many adults seem to have forgotten.

The average monthly budget of Miracle Hill is about $10,000. Having no connections with government agencies, Miracle Hill is run entirely on donations from individuals and the general public.

One of their greatest needs exists in the area of teaching aids for the secondary schools. In order to help alleviate this need, the Clemson Student Government has set a goal of $1500 which it hopes to attain during the Miracle Hill drive.

Terry Alexander, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, had this to say:

"In the past Clemson students have been very unselfish in contributing to worthy causes, and I hope that they will give this drive their wholehearted support. There just isn't anything sadder than a child in need."

insure that any controversial issue initiated by the office of student affairs would be clearly explained to students and provide for rebuttal, introduce a program of naming dorms, and many others.

Sutherland noted that his academic schedule for the next year will be light, and he emphasized that he felt that he would have the time required to handle the position in a satisfactory manner.

Competing For Secretary

Kenneth Suggs

Kenneth M. Suggs, a rising junior in economics from Anderson, is one of three candidates for Student Body Secretary.

Ken is a brother of Kappa Sigma Nu social fraternity and was a Tigerama skit director this year. He has participated in intramural sports for two years.

He stated that his reason for seeking the office was that he felt that he owed it to his school to take an active part in student government. He added that if he were elected he would "like to have a part in bringing a full, active student government closer to every Clemson student."

Mary Trout

Mary B. Trout, also a candidate for Secretary of the Student Body, is from Coral Gables, Fla. A rising senior with a double major in math and civil engineering, she was secretary of her freshman class.

She holds membership in the YMCA, ASCE, Omicron Zeta Tau sorority, BSU, Association for Computing Machinery, Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Tau Epsilon, Newtonian Society, WSBF, University Singers, Light Brigade, and the Honors Program. She has received the Tau Beta Pi Women's Badge.

When asked why she wished to be secretary she replied, "As Dean Cox said, we have a strong student government, but it cannot stay that way unless the students are interested enough to support it. I am supporting the student government in the best way I can—with my time and effort."

If elected she plans to "fulfill the office of Secretary of the Student Body to the best of my ability and to uphold the standards of a 'Clemson lady.'"

Chuck Whitney

David C. Whitney is a rising junior from Clemson, S. C., majoring in English.

Chuck has served as freshman class treasurer and a member of the Financial Review Board. He is presently a senator.

His other activities include: the Canterbury Club, YMCA, TIGER Staff, and the Clemson Players. He was the recipient of the Danforth Summer Scholarship his freshman year, was awarded the Phi Eta Sigma English Award, and has participated in the Honors Program. He currently is vice-president of the Canterbury Club and News Editor of the TIGER.

Whitney said that he sought the office because he felt that the executive branch needed strengthening and he felt qualified to serve because of his past experience in student government and his longtime residence in Clemson.

His plans if elected included: to serve the president in an advisory capacity, to maintain the student civil service as a growing power in student government, and to represent the Clemson student body.

Walker Sole Aspirant For Vice - Presidency

Unopposed in the Vice-Presidential campaign is William S. Walker of Nichols. A rising senior in history, Billy is presently chairman of the Central Spirit Committee. He holds membership in Blue Key, Tiger brotherhood, Gamma Alpha Mu honorary writers' fraternity, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and Kappa Delta Chi social fraternity. He is a former TIGER Sports Editor.

When asked why he seeks the office of Student Body Vice-President, Walker replied, "My experience on the Central Spirit Committee has made me aware of student government needs. Being conscious of these needs, I feel it is my responsibility to contribute...."

He plans when elected "to promote an effective student government operation through cooperation among campus leaders."

Competing For Treasurer

Denis Brosnan

Denis A. Brosnan, candidate for Student Body Treasurer, is a rising senior majoring in ceramic engineering. Brosnan, a native of Atlanta, Ga., is a member of Sigma Kappa Epsilon social fraternity, the American Ceramic Society, and Keramos honorary fraternity.

He is currently secretary of both Sigma Kappa Epsilon and the American Ceramic Society, and is herald of Keramos. On Honors and Awards Day Denis will be presented the Keramos Rising Senior Award.

Brosnan stated that he felt that he could increase interest in student government and that he could serve best in the capacity of treasurer. "I hope to inform all students as to the usage of the Student Activities fee in my capacity as chairman of the Financial Review Board," he said about his plans if he were elected.

Brosnan also hoped to emphasize the importance of student government to the University during his campaign. He pointed out that the poor student showing at the recent referendum demonstrated the need for such action.

Cavert McCorkle

Cavert McCorkle, a rising pre-med junior from Arlington, Va. is also a candidate for Student Body Treasurer. Cavert is a member of both the TIGER and TAPS staffs. He also belongs to Delta Sigma Nu and Phi Eta Sigma. He is a participant in the Honors Program.

He plans if elected "to continue the procedures and plans set by the present Treasurer of the Student Body with emphasis placed on the following through of the recommendations presented to each individual organization."

He commented, "Keeping promises is difficult; therefore, I make none with the understanding that I will strive to carry out the wishes and desires of the students in the best and most efficient way possible."

Linda Ramsay

Linda M. Ramsay of Madison is the final candidate for Treasurer. She is a rising senior majoring in history, and is a transfer student from Winthrop. This year she was secretary of the Financial Review Board.

She wishes to "build upon the foundation established by this year's Financial Review Board." She added that since she is secretary of this board this year she is qualified to do this.

If elected she plans to continue and enlarge upon the idea of answering questions on where students' money goes, to start the Review Board functioning earlier in the year than in the past, and to review the finances of more organizations.

High Court Candidates

Michael Click

Candidate for High Court Mike Click of Gainesville, Ga., is a rising senior in Chemical Engineering. He has been the President of the Sophomore Class and is now a senator, serving as chairman of the Student Organizations Affairs Committee.

Mike is seeking this office "to help raise the judicial system of Clemson's student government, and to preserve the rights of all students and see that justice is done." He urges all students to vote and to consider the qualifications of the candidates carefully.

William Dean

Bill Dean, a senior in biology, is a native of Clemson. He is a member of the YMCA and of Sigma Kappa Epsilon social fraternity.

Bill seeks election to High Court because he has "an interest in student government and a desire to participate in the functions of Clemson University and, while doing so, to contribute to the school during my stay here."

Charles E. Hill

Charles Hill, a rising senior history major from Jackson, wishes to be elected to High Court "to take an active part in student government by serving in a responsible capacity."

Charles is Associate Editor of the TIGER, Vice-President of his class, and a member of the Rat Court. He is a former P. R. and a member of Blue Key, Phi Kappa Phi, Scabbard and Blade, and Phi Eta Sigma. He was a delegate to SCSSS and is an Honors Program participant. He is a former winner of the Phi Eta Sigma English Award.

David Narramore

High Court candidate David L. Narramore is an architecture major from Greenville. David, a rising senior, is a member of the Numeral Society and a TAPS junior staffer. He is serving currently on the Men's Residence Court.

David feels that his experience on residence court would be a great aid in working with the High Court, which he says he regards highly.

Narramore, when asked what he would do if elected, stated, "I plan to do as good a job as a person is capable of doing. This includes fairness, honesty, and an unbiased opinion. I am for the Clemson student."

Qualifying Qualities

By JOHN ANDERSON
Special Writer

With prospects for a more efficient and effective judicial system due to recently approved amendments, candidates for positions on High Court, Men's Residence Court, and Women's Residence Court are now in the midst of the election campaigns. What type of qualifications should the student body look for in these candidates in order to assure the election of competent officials?

First, the ability to assume responsibility should be considered a necessity. Those students who are elected will be called on to decide the guilt or innocence of their fellow students and to determine the just punishment of all guilty individuals. This is a grave responsibility—one that must not be taken lightly.

Also, a good court official should be level-headed and fair. Rather than helping, emotionalism tends to hamper the effectiveness of justice. The candidates' own conduct should be above reproach for two reasons: in the first place, a student government official is responsible not only to the student body but also to the public for the image he portrays of Clemson; secondly, it would be both paradoxical and maljustice to convict a fellow student for an offense that the judge himself had just committed.

Finally, while previous experience in student government is never a handicap, it should not be considered a necessity. An inexperienced person with the above-mentioned qualities and the desire to serve can do as fine a job as the most experienced.

Coed Residence Court

Tondy McGowan

A rising junior majoring in English, Tondy McGowan is one of three candidates for the Women's Residence Court. Hailing from Sumter, Tondy has worked on the TIGER staff and is presently a member of the rifle team and Gamma Beta Phi.

In running for office, Tondy commented that "girls should definitely have more interest in the workings of the school government." She voiced her hopes that by working on the residence court she could learn more about the laws of the University and the composition of the student government.

Margaret Seay

A native of Columbia, Margaret Seay is an architecture major vying for a position on the Women's Residence Court. In the two years she has attended Clemson, Margaret has served as freshman cheerleader and as a TAPS junior staffer. She is a member of Sigma Beta Chi and the AIA, and is presently on the Women's Residence Court.

If elected, Margaret hopes to help increase the effectiveness of the residence court and to "set solid foundations for future decisions to rely on." She said that now, having served on the Women's Residence Court for a year, she realizes its significance in the development of future standards.

Men's Residence Court

James H. Ellicott

Calling Hampton, Va., home, Jim Ellicott is one of five candidates running for a Men's Residence Court post. A rising senior majoring in industrial management, Jim is a member of Sigma Kappa Epsilon, Alpha Phi Omega, and SAM.

Jim Ellicott's election plans are "to further improve relations between the student body and the university administration and to promote more active participation at all levels of our judicial system." He feels that giving more responsibility to the elected officials will help to increase cooperation throughout the university student body.

Fred Gassaway

An agricultural economics major entering his third year, Fred Gassaway of Donalds is competing for a position on the Men's Residence Court. Fred is a member of the Clemson 4-H Club, the Ag. Econ. Club, the Glee Club, and the Baptist Student Union. Currently he is serving on the Agricultural Council.

Fred gives his reason for running for office very simply: he sees a job that needs to be done and feels that he can do it. He plans to "increase the interest in student government at Clemson and encourage a closer relationship between the student and the administration."

Jerry Mandich

Charlestonian Jerry Mandich is a candidate for the Men's Residence Court. Entering his junior year as a history major, Jerry has participated in all intramural sports and is a member of Kappa Sigma Nu fraternity as well as the Charleston County Club.

In reply to a questionnaire, Jerry said his reason for running for the residence court was "because I feel the students should take a more active part in student government and I would like to do my share."

Carl Newman

Hailing from Jacksonville, Fla., Carl Newman is one of five rising juniors vying for positions on the Men's Residence Court. An economics major, Carl is a member of Kappa Sigma Nu and has participated in all of the intramural sports.

Carl gives his principal reason for running for residence court as a desire "to play a more active part in the student government...." He would like to see a smoother organization of dormitory life, he says, and secure more cooperative living among students. If elected, Carl proposes to be a staunch defender of individual rights and unbiased decisions in the court.

James D. Smith

Pre-med major James Smith of Belton is running for Men's Residence Court. A rising junior, he has played freshman tennis and is a member of the Glee Club and Kappa Sigma Nu fraternity.

Aiming to give the men's dormitory residents a fair judicial body, James plans to "aid the judicial branch of the student body government to better coordinate the minor problems of the men's dormitory between the student body and the administration." He adds that, if elected, he will be as fair and just in his decisions as he can.

Joan Strickland

Naming Annandale, Va., as her home town, Joan Strickland, a rising junior majoring in history, is also running for a position on the Women's Residence Court. Last year she was a member of the Light Brigade and this year is serving on the Women's House Council as well as being social chairman of Women's Dorm 1.

Asked about her reasons for running for this office, Joan replied that she was interested in both participating in student government and in promoting the judicial influence of the residence court. Her goal, she added, would be "to make Women's Residence Court a more effective part of Clemson's student government judicial branch by helping this court become more authoritative in dealing with rules violations by the coeds."

To Any Athlete

There are little eyes upon you,
And they're watching night and day.
There are little ears that quickly
Take in every word you say;
There are little hands all eager
To do anything you do;
And a little boy who's dreaming
Of the day he'll be like you.

You're the little fellow's idol;
You're the wisest of the wise,
In his little mind about you,
No suspicions ever rise;
He believes in you devoutly,
Holds that all you say and do,
He will say and do, in your way,
When he's a grown-up like you.

There's a wide-eyed little fellow,
Who believes you're always right,
And his ears are always open,
And he watches day and night;
You are setting an example
Every day in all you do,
For the little boy who's waiting
To grow up to be like you.

Tigers Seek ACC Championship With Veteran Lineup

By ERNIE STALLWORTH
TIGER Sports Editor
Clemson, a perennial baseball power in the Atlantic Coast Conference, will once again be a force to be reckoned with in this year's campaign beginning Monday afternoon against Virginia Tech.

A second place finisher last season, Clemson returns all of its regulars and promises to have one of the outstanding hitting and fielding teams in the South.

Pitching, however, may prove to be the Achilles Heel to Coach Wilhelm's aggregation. Only two proved performers return. Bill Parmar and Charles Watson split ten wins between them last season and big things are hoped for from these two this year.

After Parmar and Watson, depth is non-existent. If Clemson is to win the ACC championship these two must be superb each time they take the hill. Development of a third regular hurler is the major project for Wilhelm, and one with which he has been greatly concerned with this spring.

The outlook for the remainder of the squad is excellent. This Clemson team could very well be the best since Billy O'Dell led his team to the NCAA finals years ago.

Coach Wilhelm welcomes back to action the best college infield in the South and, perhaps, the nation. Certainly it can be dubbed the All-ACC infield.

Three of the five short fielders appeared on the first team All-Conference selections last spring and appear almost certain to repeat this year.

Lawton Cowart-third base, Jackie McCall-shortstop, and Rusty Adkins-second base were the All-ACC members, and will key the veteran infield.

McCall hit .358, including eight home runs. Adkins, the Fort Mill junior, led the conference in hitting with .444 and did not strike out in 30 games. Each scored 30 runs and drove in 25.

Ellis Dantzler (.310) and Eddie Barbary complete the quintet. Dantzler at first base is a senior (he made second team All-ACC last season) and is a sound all-around performer. Barbary made only two errors in his sophomore year at the catching slot.

The outfield will be improved defensively by the return of Tommy Pack to the centerfield position. Pack last saw action in 1964 and batted .303—he returns to graduate school after two years in the service.

George Sutton and Pete Meyers (.283) are returning outfield veterans, but they must win their positions from

Coach Frank Howard Optimistic

By SAMMIE CARROS
TIGER Sports Writer

Coach Frank Howard welcomed over 100 players this past Monday for the beginning of spring football practice. The Tigers with 30 returning lettermen from last year's 5-5 team and a host of rising sophomores from last year's outstanding frosh squad have expectations of one of their best teams in the last several years.

Foremost in the minds of Howard and the other coaches will be to find the best boys at each position. "Buddy, it's always a horror playing someone where someone else is better. It's hard to find, but that's what we're looking for," Howard stated.

Spring practice is scheduled to run from March 14 to April 23 with a break in between for Easter vacation. Practice sessions will last about two hours a day with an intrasquad game every Saturday. The final spring game will be held April 23.

Howard stated that the squad learned just about enough on the first day for an entire season.

"We'll have to go over and perfect everything," he added. "But now, we aren't going to look as good as we will in the fall."

The only two real question marks now appear to be linebackers and quarterbacks. However, there are some fine prospects that Howard feels will come through. All the other positions have experience and reserve strength.

Expectations are to expand on the number of defenses for the fall season. The two platoon system offers the opportunity to teach more defenses, and this will keep the opposing offense guessing.

The Tigers face the roughest schedule this season that any Clemson team has ever faced; yet Howard doesn't have a crying towel out. "Now, son, I'm optimistic right now. I know we play Ga. Tech, Duke, Alabama, and Southern Cal in a row, but I'm ready for 'em."

"That doesn't mean we'll go undefeated cause everybody else will be good. And then you never can tell what will happen—like someone getting hurt."

Pierson Keys Golfers

Clemson's varsity golf coach, Whitey Jordan, is optimistic about the 1966 golf season, which opens with North Carolina here Saturday. And he has several good reasons.

One of the main reasons for optimism is the return of defending state champion, Peter Pierson.

Pierson will be joined by several other strong golfers such as Toby Smith, Dan Davis, James Foster, James McKellar, Bill Wallace, and John Neumann. These boys were the leaders of last year's Tiger golf squad.

A few new faces will appear on the team this season, and though it is too early to know how much they will aid the team, Coach Jordan feels that all of them will definitely be assets to the squad.

After Saturday's game with U. N. C., the Clemson golfers will meet Duke here March 26. The 1966 season will be capped by the ACC meet at Pinehurst, N. C., May 13-14.

Rahim Back In Top Spot; Tennis Boys Test Deacons

By ERNIE STALLWORTH
TIGER Sports Editor

This afternoon at two p.m. the 1966 edition of the Clemson tennis team will launch the season against Wake Forest at the varsity courts.

Coach Dwayne Bruley is hopeful that this year's Tiger team will continue the rise of tennis as a major sport here at Clemson.

"We should be a little weaker as far as depth goes in the number five and six positions, but over-all I feel we should have as good a team as last year or better," stated Coach Bruley.

Last year's team was good enough to win the State championship for the fifth year in a row, and to finish second to UNC in the conference tournament. North Carolina scored 66 points to Clemson's 60 in the tournament.

The top four men return from this team. The only losses were Ed Crow and James Ledbetter. These two men provided valuable almost-certain points each time they took the court. They will be missed.

But Coach Bruley has five sophomores vying for the honor of replacing these gentlemen in competition. Denny Reynolds and David Sibert are presently in the number five and six spots, but are being challenged by David Wilkins, Tom Muthig, and Denny Carlson. Talent among these five is about equally divided, and hopes are that they will come on strong later in the season.

Zulfi Rahim remains in the number one position where this season he is prepared to challenge for the ACC championship that eluded him as a sophomore.

Rahim won 11 out of 17 matches last season—an outstanding record for a sophomore in the number one spot. Zulfi was the number one player in his native Pakistan and a member of the Davis Cup team from that nation before enrolling at Clemson.

Sammy Smithyman has taken the number two position from Tom Long, the only senior on the team. These two boys are about even and much is expected of each in the way of points during the season.

Smithyman, from Spartanburg, is a former South Carolina State Junior champion. Long, from Detroit, was the number one ranked player in Michigan before coming to Clemson.

Long played last season in the tough number two position. Smithyman lost only one match playing in number three. Both are improved, and should be outstanding this year.

Turk Ornekian returns to his number four slot. The "Little Turk" is known for his aggressive play and is a favorite with the home crowd.

Clemson will play 11 matches out of its 17 at home with the first today. Tomorrow the Tigers journey to Clinton where they will face the always powerful Presbyterian team.

For Coach Bruley "PC" is always a crucial match. I feel that if we come out of Clinton in good shape, chances for an outstanding year are excellent."

Clemson-PC matches are always the most exciting of the year, for the state championship is decided between these two. Clemson broke PC's 30 year hold on the state crown in 1961. Since that time the Tigers have held on for dear life—and this year will be no exception.

The conference is increasing in strength each year too, and Clemson will have a little more trouble with some of the traditional doormats this season.

The Wake Forest coach, Leighton, held that position at PC during the Blue Hose's golden years in tennis.

Please don't zupf Sprite.
It makes plenty of noise
all by itself.

Sprite, you recall, is the soft drink that's so tart and tingling, we just couldn't keep it quiet.

Flip its lid and it really flips. Bubbling, fizzing, gurgling, hissing and carrying on all over the place.

An almost excessively lively drink. Hence, to zupf is to err.

What is zupping?

Zupping is to drinking what smacking one's lips is to eating.

It's the staccato buzz you make when draining the last few deliciously tangy drops of Sprite from the bottle with a straw.

Zzzzzllupf! It's completely uncalled for. Frowned upon in polite society. And not appreciated on campus either.

But, if zupping Sprite is absolutely essential to your enjoyment; if a good healthy zupf is your idea of heaven, well...all right.

But have a heart. With a drink as noisy as Sprite, a little zupf goes a long, long way.

SPRITE. SO TART AND TINGLING, WE JUST COULDN'T KEEP IT QUIET.

4) Responsibility: Finally, the candidate for office must be an intelligent, rational thinker who will assume full responsibility for his position. He must be dependable enough to carry out his assigned duties, level-headed enough to make important decisions, and loyal enough to Clemson and its students to put his duty first at all times.

Look at the list of nominees for each office. Study their qualifications. Examine them in the light of the four preceding standards. Then you will be able to select the type of student leadership that Clemson University deserves.

Exhibition Features High School Art

A record-breaking 450 entries were submitted for judging in Clemson University's ninth annual High School Art Exhibition on public display free of charge through Mar. 28 in the Rudolph Lee Gallery of the School of Architecture.

Cash prizes will be distributed among first and second-place winners in three divisions of competition, and purchase awards made at an afternoon reception for the winners and their teachers Saturday, Mar. 19, in the Gallery.

the onslaughts of junior college transfer Gene Dunlap and sophomore Keith Waters.

Sutton and Meyers are also trying to fill the desperately needed third and fourth pitching spots. Sophomore Earl Cohen, Nelson Gibson, Bill James, Ed Lodgek, and Kenny Waldrop are also in contention.

Coach Wilhelm is singing the woes for his pitching staff; however, Charles Watson, the junior ace, should be the best hurler in the conference. Along with Parmar, Watson will give Clemson pitching that should be good enough to carry all the way.

Pitching is the concern of all teams in the conference; and, in the past, two pitchers have been enough if the right ingredients of hitting and fielding were added. Hitting and fielding are two things of which Clemson has plenty.

Married Students

Married students, young couples, and engaged students are urged to attend a family life workshop entitled DIALOGUE IN MARRIAGE. The workshop will be led by Chaplain L. L. McGee, a Baptist, of Clemmons, N. C.

This workshop will begin at 6:00 p.m. Saturday, Mar. 19, with a covered-dish supper in the Baptist Church social hall. No reservations are necessary; just come and bring a dish. At 6:45 Chaplain McGee will address the group on the subject, "Dialogue in the Role of Husband and Wife in Marriage."

Grand prize purchase awards of $20 each will go to Lamar Foster of J. L. Mann High School, Greenville, and Garwan Walker of Columbia High School for their works entitled, respectively, "Transparent Arbor" in mixed media and the pastel "Still Life in Blue."

First and second prizes of $10 and $5 each will be awarded as follows:

Drawings: (1) Bonnie Dudley of J. L. Mann High School for "Portrait" and (2) Judy Connelly of Rock Hill High School for "Dust to Dust."

Painting: (1) T. E. Hamer of Moultrie High School, Mt. Pleasant, for "Paula" and (2) Kim Boyd of Dreher High School, Columbia, for "Sunset Over Pawley's."

A $10 first prize only will be presented in the Sculptured Crafts division to Lillian Barefoot of Columbia High School for "The Elephant."

The Pussycat.

For people who are fed up with tigers.

There are a lot of ferocious cars around these days. If their names don't take your breath away, try their price tags.

The Volkswagen Karmann Ghia is a different kind of car. It's a Pussycat.

Sort of a tiger that's been housebroken.

It was designed by an Italian designer, famous for classic style, but it's powered by a Volkswagen engine, famous for classic economy.

It takes 185 workers in a European coachmaking house to hand-weld and hand-shape its body, but a single Volkswagen mechanic anywhere in the U.S. can take it apart and put it back together again.

It will cruise at 80 and round corners like a racer (each wheel has its own torsion bar suspension system). Yet its rear-mounted engine is air-cooled, never overheats, never freezes, and averages 30 mpg.

That's our story. Some cars are big on looks and others are built strictly for economy.

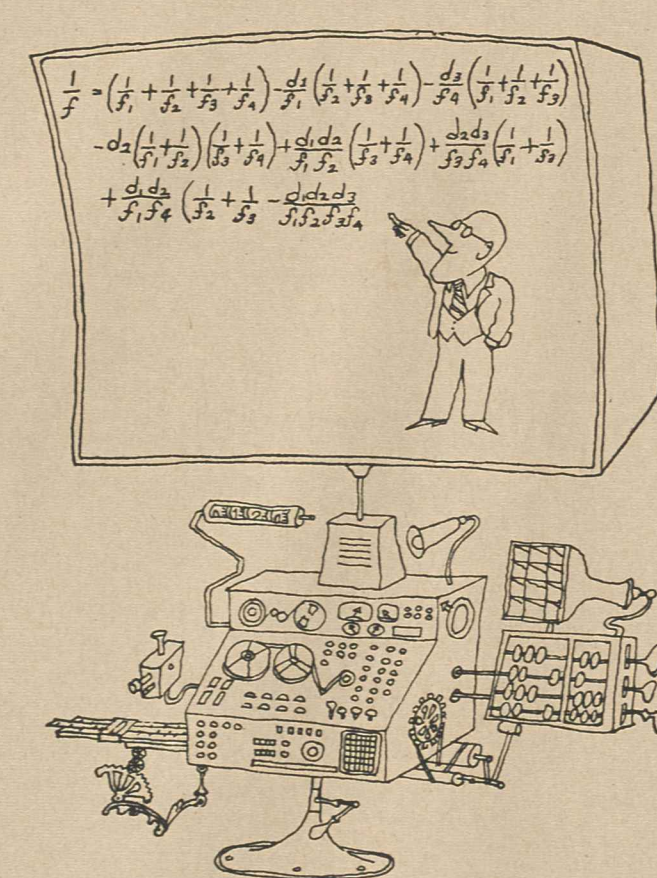

Then there's the Pussycat.

It's the one car you can choose without making a choice.

If communications were good enough you could stay in the sack all day

Moving your body around is highly inefficient.

If communications were perfect, you would never have to. Of course, you would still have to get exercise. But that's your problem.

We want to make it easier for you to contact people, learn, get information, attend lectures, and hold meetings.

We developed Picturephone* service so you can see as well as talk when you call. And be seen, too. We introduced Tele-Lecture service (two-way amplified phone calls) to let you hear lecturers in distant locations. And so you could ask them questions no matter how far away they were.

Right now, many students can dial from their dormitories to a language lab. Soon a student will be able to dial into a computer thousands of miles away to get information for his courses.

Depending on the nature of the information, he might get his answer back audibly, printed on a teletypewriter, as a video image, or a facsimile print.

Some of these services are available now. Others are being tested.

For the next week or so, better get a move on.
